“ If anyone knew Derek they would know what a loving and sweet person he was. I want to thank his cousin Nikki for bringing us together. She knew we should have been together from the very start but we had to go our own ways so when we did finally get together we would appreciate what we had to offer one another. I have been very blessed to have had in my life for over twenty years. There wasn't a day that went by that we didn't tell each other how much we loved one another. He taught me just how much you can love someone. He accepted me for my good and bad moments. I am deeply heartbroken, but I guess God needed another beautiful angel. I'm just having a hard time letting him go but I'm thankful that he is out of pain and now he can run and be with the ones that have passed. He was so heartbroken when his brother Lane had passed but I know Lane was there to help him pass on. My sons and I always told him how much we appreciated all the life lessons and wisdom that he had taught us through the years. I feel like my sons are very lucky to have had him in their lives and they are better men for that. Derek loved his parents more than anyone I know and I'm a truly blessed person for having his family in my life. They are beautiful souls and I'm so thankful they allowed me to be a part of their family. (Mimi and Paw Paw y'all raised a wonderful son that you should be very proud of and I am so thankful for that) I know y'all will always be in my heart. (Walt and Leslie thank you so much for your kindness and love during this hard time. It meant so much to me. Leslie thank you for your hugs and patience. I know we never made it official but y'all made me feel like we did.) I will miss all of you. (I hope to still come eat at thanksgiving tho) Just know I love you all and Derek loved you very much. Derek (debo) was my world and everyday was focused around him so to say I'm lost is a understatement. I not sure how to do this life without him but I guess I will learn to live with a beautiful angel watching over me.
