Edna married Peter Lomagistro in 1946 and they lived much of their married life in New York. Together they raised three children and were active within their community and enjoyed happy times with friends.

Edna will be remembered as a true “Southern Girl” and a skilled cook, especially with Italian cuisine. She loved to shop and always looked her best. In June 2021, Edna moved to The Grove at Canopy in Tallahassee. She lived independently there and was just beginning to meet new friends before becoming ill.
