“ I have such fond memories of Marie and I love her so much. My memory is funny in that my husband Jim and I were at the church at night while I practiced my solo for Sunday. Jim was working the sound equipment. When we got ready to leave Jim was turning off the equipment in the hallway where the choir waits on Sunday to get in choir loft. At that time Marie was secretary of the church and her office door was also in this hallway. As I waited for Jim to turn everything off I heard my name called in a soft faint voice. I told Jim and he thought I was crazy until it happened a second time. This time he heard it. Our eyes got as big as saucers as we looked at each other in astonishment. Then. The voice came again. Helen in here.....it was Marie in her office. We didn't know she slipped in the back door while I was practicing. Naturally we though we were alone. What a memory I never forget to this day. Rest in Peace Marie.
