“ I loved Jean. She worked with my mother at the Dept of Environmental Protection for many years. Mama used me as free labor for filing back in the 70's. Jean was so sweet and such a nice person. Mama says after one reorg of positions, Jean was moved under another supervisor and within weeks retired. Apparently, she came into work one day and someone had left her a nasty note, there were folks calling and complaining and she just up and walked to Human Resources and signed retirement papers. She left that day and never came back! Way to go Jean!
