“ When my son started FSU in the Fall of 2017, a mutual friend introduced us to Kim. She met us for lunch and offered her time and number to our son for anything he might need while there. Kim and I became Facebook friends after that lunch and I have been a huge supporter of hers since. A remarkable young woman that will be greatly missed. Heaven got a good one! God speed!

“ Kim was my first friend in Tallahassee. She and I had been randomly assigned to a dorm room and spent countless hours together navigating life, studies, love, and friendship. She was always there for me when I needed her and we shared so many laughs, tears, and meals at the dining halls of FSU. She was one of the most compassionate and fierce and humorous and intelligent and wonderful woman I have ever had the privilege to meet.

“ I met Kim in High school. I was a shy girl and didn't have many friends but, as I was walking to Gym I saw her and saw the hoodie she was wearing. It was a hoodie from our favorite video game (Resident Evil) so, I walked right up to her and told her she had an amazing hoodie. Kim's eyes light up and she smiled then thanked me. We had a 30 min break in the gym and we just sat down and talked. It blossomed into a beautiful friendship, we celebrated high school graduation together and it broke my heart when she moved away for college but kept in contact. I went to her wedding, and even got to spend the day at Disney world with her a few months later. I have always been proud of her and all of her accomplishments and will continue to cherish our friendship forever.

“ Kim was one of my first college roommates and I will never forget her kindness, her fierce passion to help others, and the love of food and knowledge that I was lucky to witness on a regular basis. I like many others was better for having known her. Although I won’t be able to meet up with her this week as I pass through town as we had planned, when I do I will be praying for her family whom she loved most deeply.

“ I first met Kim when I interviewed her for an internship at Georgia Pines. Out of the 20+ interviews I conducted that semester, Kim’s stood out to me the most because she spoke so passionately about her dream of providing counseling to first responders and spoke openly about so many different life experiences that brought her to the field of social work. She displayed empathy, intelligence, professionalism, and pure joy throughout our meeting. From her first answer in that interview, I knew Kim was meant to be in the social work field and was going to contribute so much to Georgia Pines and all the clients we serve. Unfortunately, I left the agency prior to Kim’s internship beginning, but I often heard from former colleagues how wonderful Kim was and the impact she was having on clients and co-workers. Prior to Kim’s passing, I was able to meet her again as she joined my licensure supervision group to help her get hours for her LCSW. It was so refreshing to hear from her and have her share her perspective on what we were discussing as well as hearing her again speak so passionately about her goals to help a critical population. I was looking forward to her attending more meetings and have the opportunity for the other supervisees and myself to learn from her experiences and for her to continue growing her clinical skills. I was heartbroken to hear of Kim’s passing and I am thinking about Kim and her family during this time.

“ Kim was a classmate, but also completed her first clinical internship for her MSW working under me on an inpatient psych unit. She was compassionate, empathetic, hardworking, brave, smart, and cared for clients in a way I have never seen another social worker do. She ending up teaching me how to speak to people and their families with more compassion & warmth. The world is truly losing an asset and a loving heart. You will be missed, Kim. My thoughts are with the Little family and her partner, who she spoke so highly of.

“ Kimberly and I met at FSU while in undergrad. She was the most kind and considerate person. She was always so supportive of me. I remember when she found out she got the position as a dispatcher there and her time working at the Landis library. She was so stoked. She would eat lunch with me in the courtyard and helped to teach me what it means to be kind to myself. She is a beautiful soul and will always be remembered so fondly. My condolences go out to her loved ones during this difficult time. She is a life worth celebrating.
