Mae-Louise Baker (Jezyk) passed away peacefully on May 2, 2012 at Tallahassee Memorial Hospital. Her passion for life and learning stayed with her until the very end. We all miss her very much and will carry her in our hearts always. A private family service will be held at a later date. “ I just found this page and am so sorry to hear of ML's passing. She was one of my favorite professors at Florida State, and I appreciated so much her willingness to let me cram a costume techniques lab into three weeks of eight-hour days at a sewing machine so that I could be free during the earlier part of the summer term to prepare for the LSAT. ML was a delight, and I hope the family continues to find comfort in the memories of happy times together.

“ So sorry to hear about ML. I loved her sense of humor. She so willingly shared her knowledge of sewing with us at the Tallahassee American Sewing Guild. She will be missed by all of us.

“ So sorry to hear of ML's passing. I was on faculty with her from '91-'95 and I enjoyed her company very much. She held high standards of professional expectations and execution and that was a contributing factor to the quality of FSU's productions and reputation. My prayers and condolences to her family.
