“ *Cindy,
Our hearts were saddened when we realized that your sweet mom had passed. We only found out today after the service. We thought the world of your parents. We lost Valda last year and know the pain of losing a mother. May God enfold you and your family with His peace. May He comfort you today and all of your tomorrows. If we can help you in any way please don't hesitate to call on us. Our love and prayers.*

“ My heart felt Sympathy and Condolence to the all the family in this time of loss. Even loving thoughts like these may somehow not express the sympathy that's with you in this time of loss. Knowing Marilyn through the years she always offered to help anyone in need. She blessed us in many ways, especially when Travis (nephew) needed a helping hand. Of course, Marilyn extended the helping hand and special care, which has never been forgotten. Knowing there is Peace for her now "For the Lord shall comfort" Isaiah

“ Cindy, I am so sorry for your loss. May God soften your sorrow today and in the days to come. Marilyn was my sister-in-law and I would like to share a story of ours. When I first became a member of the family we didn't have much money so I made all the Christmas gifts that year of the family members whose name I drew. I made a housecoat for Marilyn and she praised it for many years after that. She said she wore it completely out she liked it so much. I never forgot that to this day.
May you rest in peace dear one.

Cindy and Family,

It was through your Aunt Eleanor that I learned of your mom's passing. It was Eleanor's birthday this week and I sent a text to congratulate her. She returned my text with this news. I have been there and know the love and support of God's people can make it easier, so please feel my arms of comfort around you as you process the coming days.

We know where Marilyn is and that in itself is heartwarming. Had I known I would have made an effort to be at her homegoing service.

If my memory is correct, years ago I believe I would see her at GMAC at the Fort Knox Office Building. She always remembered me and gave a warm welcome, a very dear, special person, as was your Dad also.

In His love and prayers for you all,
