

Marion Delores Wright

March 3, 1930 - November 23, 2015

Marion Delores Wright was born in Lexington, Kentucky in 1930 and died in Tallahassee, Florida on November 23, 2015. She is survived by her loving husband John Wright and their five children (and spouses): Anita Wright (David Maneval, Jr.), Cynthia Wright (Penn Smith), Emily Corns (Hank Corns), John Wright (Patty Wright), and William Wright (Cynthia Wright); her grandchildren: Josh, Jeffrey, Paul, Jordan, Lily, Lacy, Steven, Bailey, Morgan, Keegan, and Hayden; and her great grandchildren: Justin, Tyler, and Colton; and also by Lee Mooney and Jay Corzine. She married her husband John while they both attended the University of Michigan, following him in his career as a psychologist to Indiana, Ohio, and settling in Florida. She returned to college to earn a M.S. in counseling from FSU. After graduation, she continued to dedicate her life to child welfare as a guidance counselor at Mims and Mulberry Middle Schools and coordinated the Leon County Teenage Parenting Program.

Marion will be missed greatly by her family and friends for her wise advice, for her caring, thoughtful attention to the problems of others, and for always being there when she was needed. She excelled in tennis until she was 75, winning tournaments and slamming family members with her little “dink” over the net. During her challenge with Parkinson’s disease, she truly appreciated the special attention of Jolene Williams and Jaqui Griffith, the assistance of the Visiting Angels and the Big Bend Hospice, and most of all the loving care of her husband.
